

Leaders in digital for 30 years

As pioneers of digital innovation, we've been providing specialist software, services and content to a diverse customer base for over three decades, delivering digital insight, knowledge and expertise to the hands of organisations both in the UK and overseas.

We are focused and proactive – we take action when needed to ensure our organisation continues to expand in the right areas, and in line with customer and business needs and expectations.

Over the last 12 months, we can boast...

"In the last three months alone, we have secured a succession of fresh partnerships with local authorities, NHS Trusts, universities and commercial organisations who are attracted by the scalability of our solutions and our proven track record. It is with this winning streak that we are confident we will continue on our upward trend as we move further into 2018, supporting a customer base that has always relied and trusted in us to deliver innovation."

David Meaden
Idox CEO

Dedicated to a digital future for the years to come

With momentum behind us, we're excited about our future plans that will see us:

"Idox has always delivered what we've needed them to and been able to adapt. Channel shift is where local councils are at the moment and Idox has been able to support our journey towards a smarter way of working."

Louis Krog
Licensing Manager
Cheltenham Borough Council

LAUNCH

a collection of new role-based apps to drive further mobile working and efficiencies

DEVELOP

digital technology to implement safer patient journeys and support the Scan for Safety strategy in healthcare organisations

BROADEN

our end-to-end electoral services support across the UK and Europe – we'll support the electronic counting of over 320,000 ballot papers for the Electoral Commission in Malta in May 2019

DELIVER

bespoke transport technology, continuing to align with the Smart Cities agenda and support the efficient movement of people and goods

INTRODUCE

the next generation of Uniform

EXTEND

our Digital Platform to support more end-to-end, online customer journeys

INTEGRATE

further our core public sector technologies

"We welcome Idox's commitment to continuing to develop solutions that enable remote access working for our teams and partner authorities, and mobile apps to assist in our continued drive towards paperless working and better on-site data capture."

Carol A Brown
DM Systems & Technical Support Manager
South Downs National Park Authority

For more information about our products, services and expertise, please visit the Group website at www.idoxgroup.com